SUBJECT: AggieBuy 20.1 Update- New UI for Navigation

New UI for Navigation

AggieBuy was updated this weekend as part of the 20.1 release by Jaggaer. This release includes an update to the user navigations panes. As you login on Monday you will see a change with how the navigation panes look. All the functionality is the same, so it is just a user interface update. The AggieBuy website has been updated to include a user guide documenting the navigation panes which is available at the following link:

In addition, below is a screenshot of what the new navigations panes look like.

And you will notice we have a new 'logo'. Ag Communication said our logo would have been too stretched so they just provided a logo with just the name.
